BALTIMORE, May 20, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- T. Rowe Price, a global investment management firm and a leader in retirement, announced the latest episode of "The Angle from T. Rowe Price," an investment-themed podcast focused on the forces shaping financial markets and the leaders navigating them.

In the newest episode, host Eric Veiel, Head of Global Investments and Chief Investment Officer for T. Rowe Price, speaks with David Solomon, Chairman and CEO of Goldman Sachs, a global investment banking, securities, and investment management firm offering a wide array of services to clients ranging from corporations, governments, and individuals.

Veiel and Solomon discuss his path to leading Goldman Sachs, the importance of building a resilient culture inside a global institution, and how leaders make decisions in periods of uncertainty and rapid change. Their conversation also explores the evolving role of capital markets, how businesses adapt to shifting economic conditions, and what long-term leadership requires in an environment defined by complexity and constant reinvention.

"What stood out was his focus on culture, decisiveness, and the need to keep evolving in response to shifting markets and client needs.
